FOR RACE AND NATION

WHITE RACE COMMITTING SUICIDE

- Low birthrate
- Immigration
- Overseas aid

IF OUR ANCESTORS were to be able to return to this earth and survey the world scene today, they could only come to one conclusion: the white race everywhere — or almost everywhere — seems bent on committing suicide.

In almost all traditionally white countries, including Britain, governments are committed to policies whose certain result, if they are pursued to their conclusions, will be the death of European civilisation.

In all white countries, including our own, large families are being discouraged with all the means of propaganda that can be brought to bear. This is resulting in a progressively older population. The end product, as with the dinosaurs, is that the race will eventually die out — become extinct. And long before that it will lose its strength and vigour, as an increasing proportion of elderly will have to be supported by a decreasing proportion of young and active. In the meantime the coloured races of the world, including those in our own country, are taking little notice of the appeal to limit births. Their populations are proliferating — in Africa, in Asia, in Latin America, as well as here.

While this is happening, the white nations — with Britain in the lead — are insanely opening their doors to the surplus populations of the burgeoning 'Third World'. The White Man everywhere seems to have lost the will to defend his own territory from invasion.

And, to complete the lunacy, the white nations are diverting a huge part of their resources — resources made available mainly by the industry and inventiveness of their peoples — to bailing the coloured world out of its self-inflicted problems of poverty, disease and starvation — leading to the breeding of yet more millions calling for more 'aid' and demanding entry for more of their kind into the White Man's homelands.

The sheer madness that has gripped the white nations and has led them to these suicidal policies is without parallel in history.

Why is it all being done? Because, its supporters would say, we are now all part of a 'one-world' community of peoples, without differentiation of race or colour. 'All mankind' are our kinsmen. National and racial borders must come down. 'Brotherly love' towards all peoples must prevail everywhere. Nationalism and 'racism' are sinful. Charity should not 'begin at home'; it should be spread everywhere.

There is only one trouble with this sweet-sounding philosophy: the White Man is alone in believing in it. The coloured races have not caught on.

The coloured races, far from thinking in the same terms of a great universal 'brotherhood' of peoples, still think in terms of their own racial advantage. The Black Man thinks as a Black. The Arab thinks as an Arab. The Japanese thinks as a Japanese. The Indian thinks as an Indian. And the Jew thinks as a Jew. The latter is in fact the most racially conscious of all the peoples of the world and is the most single-minded in pursuit of what is good for his race.

None of this to be condemned. It is the perfectly natural instinct of every healthy form of life on this planet.

What must be condemned is the fact that the white peoples of the world, alone among the races, are afraid to think and feel in a racial way, to defend their own racial territory, to increase their own kind and to concentrate their resources on providing for themselves.

It is the White Man, alone among the races, who has lost the instinct to play for his own side. He has become the ardent champion of the cause of every race but his own race, every nation but the white nations.

And in Britain our own government, and the two main opposition groups of politics, are all afflicted by this madness, this suicide complex. They are all actively promoting the self-destruction of the white race by lack of sufficient births. They all support the flooding of our territory by the races of the 'Third World'. And they all favour the wastage of our resources and

THE LOONY LEFT: DON'T BLAME IT FOR EVERYTHING!

IN RECENT TIMES a lot of attention has been focussed on the 'loony left' of politics, the militants that have taken hold of the Labour Party and grabbed control of many of Britain's city and borough councils.

So much so that a hue and cry has gone up: stop the loony left at all costs!

In the by-election at Greenwich in February there was a massive vote for the SDP candidate. But by no means all those who voted for her were SDP supporters. Many simply voted SDP because they were persuaded that it was the party which stood the best chance of keeping Labour out — the Labour candidate being on the 'hard left' of the party.

We detest the far left as much as anyone. Indeed we are probably more diametrically opposed to its loathsome idiology than any party across the political spectrum.

But we believe there is a danger that this fear of the 'loony left' is getting out of hand and those who are always sounding this fear are losing perspective.

Let us get this straight: it is not the 'loony left' that has brought Britain to its knees and reduced it to a second-rate nation.

The 'loony left' has not been the main cause of 3½ million being out of work — although it has helped.

The 'loony left' did not take us into the Common Market, a disastrous course for Britain.

The 'loony left' did not create the massive race problem in our towns and cities by promoting massed coloured immigration — though of course it has been very ready to exploit the problem once it was created.

The 'loony left' did not lead the scuttle by Britain from one position around the world after another. The 'loony left' did not lose us our empire.

The 'loony left' is not the main cause of the alarming collapse of law and order in Britain and the rocketing rate of violent crime.

The 'loony left' is merely a recent excrescence, a symptom of our nation's appalling sickness rather than a cause of it.

So let us not imagine that the only important thing to do in politics today is oppose and keep out the 'loony left'.

Indeed we can get so obsessed with stopping the 'loony left' that we will put up with any clown in politics who does not wear a far left-wing label. That is not the way to put Britain back on its feet.

For Britain to be put back on its feet, we must oppose the people and the parties who have been the architects of national decline — the national decline that has been proceeding for many decades, long before the 'loony left' started to obtain influence in politics.

And today those who have approved and worked for the policies that have brought about this national decline throw a convenient smokescreen around themselves by focussing the people's attention on the 'loony left'. We should not be fooled; we should concentrate our attention on the people really responsible for our national woes: the men and women of the 'establishment', the soft centre of

RACISM EQUALS PATRIOTISM

THE VICIOUS 'anti-racist' propaganda campaign that has been pursued by all the mass media over the past 40 years is now becoming more strident than ever before. 'Racism' — by which is always meant the racism of Whites, never of other races — is being portrayed as the worst form of wickedness.

The British people must understand that this propaganda is nothing less than a campaign of lies, hate and defamation at the hands of their enemies, who include the powerfully placed traitors of our own race who have imposed multi-racial conditions on Britain by fraud and deceit, and now seek to enforce those conditions by tyranny.

The 'anti-racist' bilge, which assumes ever more lunatic and evil forms and which is now even being used to poison the minds of young children is designed to induce contempt on the part of white people for themselves and their own kind. If this systematic brain-dirtying succeeds, if Britons buckle at the knees at its impact, this will lead to the collapse of our will to survive as a nation, and the reduction of our descendants to a mass of slaves under the control of the powerful internationalist forces which are now working to undermine white nationhood in every corner of the globe.

The most basic truth which should be grasped is that race is the only realistic basis for nationhood, for without it there cannot be any common national identity. The British nation is the product of centuries of common striving by people of Anglo-Saxon, Scandinavian and Celtic blood, all closely related strains of Northern European origin, together with people of other European antecedents who have been assimilated in very small numbers over the centuries.

With the advent of the madness — and in fact treason — of multi-racialism, the attempt is now being made to enforce the assimilation into the British populace of people of non-European origin, mostly comprising Afro-Caribbean and Asian immigrants. No such wave of immigration has ever before taken place. All the evidence of where this has happened in other parts of the world — notably the United States — indicates that such an attempt can only end in disaster for Britain.

To avoid this catastrophe that the multi-racialist enemies of Britain are so energetically working to promote, the British — in common with Whites everywhere — will need every ounce of 'racism' they still still possess. They will also need the courage to be open 'racists'.

Contrary to the malignant claims of its enemies, racism is not a negative and destructive force but a positive and constructive one without which no community can in the end survive. To be a racist means to have a sense of pride in one's own kind and to be prepared to act in its defence. A racist is one who is moved by an attitude of group loyalty to stand shoulder-to-shoulder with those of his own blood and kin in the common interest and for the sake of common survival. Racism simply means team spirit. In fact racism is basically equal to patriotism.

'Anti-racism', on the other hand, is a huge media-hyped swindle.

When once the great force of racial patriotism awakens in Britain, we shall be set on the road to national regeneration.

RACE VIOLENCE: FICTION AND FACT

Home Secretary twists the truth in quest for immigrant vote

WITH A GENERAL ELECTION now looming in the near future, Tory Government Home Secretary Douglas Hurd has seen fit to stage a public song-and-dance act over the arrival of 58 Tamils at Heathrow Airport. His main concern would seem to be to 'con' British voters into believing that the government was at last 'getting tough' over Third World immigration. Hence the half-hearted effort by the Home Office, thwarted by a court order, to get the Tamils sent back home.

WOOING THE BLACKS
Home Secretary Hurd is pictured here on 'goodwill' mission to Handsworth just after the ferocious black riot there in 1985

A truer picture of Hurd's and the government's real attitude was conveyed by remarks that the Home Secretary made at a recent after-dinner speech to launch the British-Indian Friendship Society. The major part of the speech to this Asian body was given over to denunciations of so-called 'violence' and 'persecution' against Asian communities in British cities. Hurd and the government, while naturally wanting the indigenous British vote, are also desperately anxious to woo the 'ethnic minority' vote, which is now becoming crucial in British elections.

'THUGS AND BIGOTS'

Hurd stated in the speech that he was ''determined to see this violence stamped out,'' and to see the ''thugs and bigots'' (by which he evidently means the local white residents of these inner city neighbourhoods and whom he claims to be behind this alleged 'violence' and 'persecution') prosecuted.

In fact, as British Nationalist has previously pointed out, there is very little real evidence that any 'ethnic minority' communities are being subjected to any such campaigns of 'violence' or 'persecution' from the white host community, as is now being claimed by the politicians of the Westminster parties. The current propaganda about these so-called 'racial attacks' is being deliberately whipped up by the mass media in response to the agitation of 'ethnic' lobbies, now very powerful in many inner city localities, and it provides a convenient smokescreen which conceals the much greater reality of violence and intimidation being practised by certain sections of the immigrant communities against native Whites.

Neither Hurd nor any other leading politicians, however, have seen fit to make any public statements condemning ethnic minority violence against white people, but would prefer to give the impression that all the violence is the other way — despite the very flimsy evidence of it.

'TASK FORCE'

In pursuit of this deception, Hurd has now gone so far as to set up a 'ministerial task force' involving members of the government, civil servants and so-called 'outside experts' to wage war on what are vaguely described as 'racial attacks' and 'harrassment' supposedly carried out by Whites against non-Whites.

Meanwhile the true reality concerning 'racial attacks' can be seen by anyone familiar with the inner city scene in Britain. This ranges in scale from thousands of black attacks on individual Whites, some racially motivated and some carried out merely for motives of robbery or rape, to full-blown riots in which overwhelmingly non-white mobs (as at Tottenham and Brixton and, more recently, Wolverhampton) have attacked and injured hundreds of British policemen.

Neither Hurd nor Mrs. Thatcher have any solutions to propose for this real crisis which threatens to blight the whole future of the British people and which is the inevitable result of their own weakness, cowardice and corruption, as well as that of the whole liberal, multi-racialist ruling establishment to which they belong. None of them will propose, as a necessary measure in reducing racial conflict in Britain, a reversal of their own disastrous multi-racial policies and the humane resettlement overseas of Britain's ethnic minority population — a commonsense solution that would best serve the interests of white and coloured alike.

BIRMINGHAM BURNS
Steel-helmeted policeman stands with shield in Handsworth as houses and cars are set on fire. This violence and destruction were caused, not by white 'racists' but by a mainly black rampaging mob

COVER-UP

Instead, they prefer to cover up their own errors by increasing persecution and intimidation against those Whites in this country who oppose multi-racialism. Part of this process is the tightening up of race and 'public order' laws, under which white patriots (including the Editor of this paper) have been imprisoned, and now Hurd's proposed 'ministerial task force', which clearly is aimed at the same objective.

In the final analysis, all the politicians are concerned about is their own electoral advantage. They will, in effect, say anything and do anything to get votes. A tiny bit of bait is offered to the white British voter by the sham stance against the Tamil influx (which we predict now will not be stopped), while the immigrant vote is wooed by much more substantial concessions, which amount to official war against all those in Britain who want to preserve the traditional character of their country.

POLITICAL ACTION NEEDED

Let us make this clear: we oppose acts of violence against ethnic minorities as strongly as anyone; they are no solution to the problems of multi-racialism, which can only be tackled by peaceful and lawful political action, as is offered by the British National Party, which this paper supports.

We believe, however, that the issue of racial 'violence' against ethnic minorities is a gigantic red herring, built on claims for which there is little evidence, and created in order to discredit and confuse the whole case for peaceful opposition to multi-racialism and the restoration of a homogeneous white Britain.

And the fact that leading politicians like Thatcher and Hurd are now lending themselves to the promotion of this falsehood is testimony to the contemptible level that British politics have reached.

politics: the Tories and the Labour 'moderates', for they are the people who have been governing us since the end of World War II.

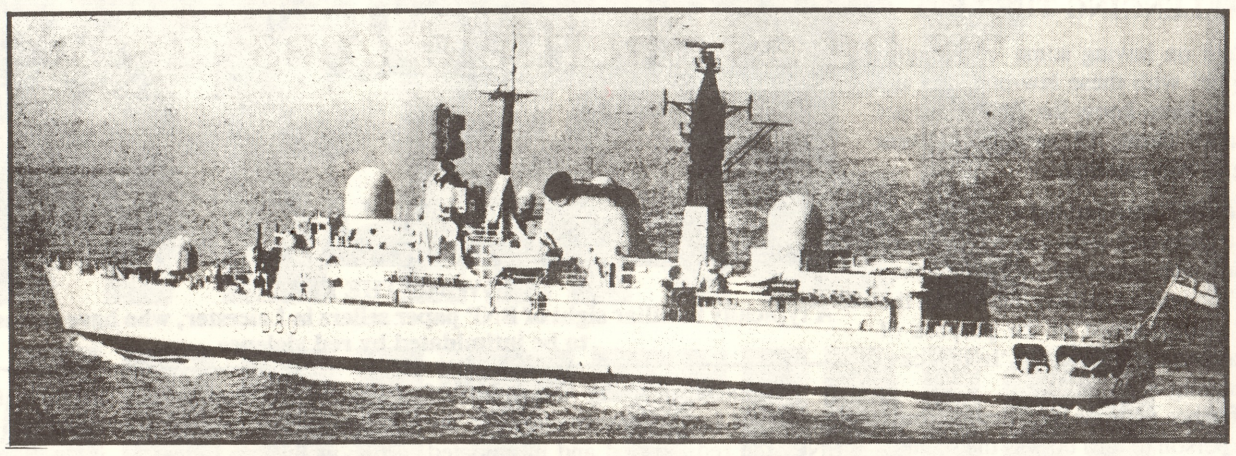
Not to forget the 'soft centre' people of the SDP/Liberal Alliance, who, although they may not have governed, stand broadly for the same things as those who have.

Our distaste for the 'loony left' should not blind us to the fact that Britain does indeed need REVOLUTIONARY CHANGE — not the revolutionary change that the left advocates but revolutionary change of an entirely different kind, a change which sweeps away all the old forces of left, right and centre, all the forces of decline and betrayal in their various colours.

A revolutionary change which, among other things, will make it impossible for the 'loony left' to exist in British politics — something that the so-called 'moderates' of all parties have singularly failed to do.

EXPOSED: TORY DEFENCE SELL OUT

GOVERNMENT CONTINUES RUNDOWN OF BRITAIN'S NAVY



BRITISH WARSHIP AT SEA
Under planned cuts the number operational will be inadequate to meet our commitments

THE TORIES have always professed, as part of their pose of 'patriotism', that the defence of Britain was something to which they gave top priority.

The fraudulence of this claim first became evident in 1981, when the government announced swingeing defence cuts, the brunt of them to be borne by Britain's 'senior service', the Royal Navy. Under these cuts the Navy was to be reduced to little more than a coastal defence force, without aircraft carriers and with other parts of the fleet drastically cut.

MANIFESTO PLEDGE

This was in direct violation of the Tories' manifesto pledge, made at the 1979 general election, that they would "not hestitate to spend what is necessary on our armed forces," no matter how public spending was cut elsewhere.

This proposed reduction of Britain's maritime power would leave her without the proper capability to meet her commitments beyond home waters in the world at large, upon which, as an island nation heavily dependent on overseas trade, her survival must depend.

Arguably, the wilful destruction of Britain's defence capabilities by her own government was interpreted by Argentina's military rulers as sure proof that Britain had lost the will to protect her own interests, and thus helped to precipitate the Argentine invasion of the Falkland Islands in 1982.

CUTS ON THE SLY

In the event, it was assumed in the aftermath of the Falklands War that the planned cuts in the Navy had been largely rescinded. From a question tabled in the Commons by Mr. Keith Speed, former Conservative Navy Secretary, it now appears that the government has in fact been continuing its naval cuts on the sly. Speed was in fact fired in 1981 for publicly revealing the truth of Mrs. Thatcher's proposed betrayal of her former pledges on defence.

By the Summer of this year Britain's surviving naval strength will be even less than the levels projected in the 1981 cuts!

By then the Navy will be left with only 48 destroyers and frigates, which, allowing for the numbers undergoing refits at any one time, might leave an operational force of 43 or 44. It is expected that the 1987/88 government defence white paper, due to be published this May (at about the time when the general election will be under consideration) will attempt to fudge these figures in order to make the cuts look smaller than they really are.

RUNDOWN

The rundown is apparently planned to continue into the 1990s. The number of new vessels to be constructed as old ones are taken out of commission is likely to be extremely small.

The Tories are currently making a big meal of the Labour proposal to scrap Britain's nuclear deterrent. But in fact they themselves are, on the quiet, in the business of scrapping other essential parts of the nation's defence capability.

It is clear that none of the parties of the established political circus at Westminster are really concerned to sustain our defences at a level, and in a form, adequate to preserve our national sovereignty and freedom of action in the world. However much the Tories may squeal over Labour and Alliance defence policies, they, as much as the others, are in fact involved in making us practically defenceless against our enemies.

MAKE BRITAIN STRONG!

While the old gang weaken Britain in the face of a hostile world, only we nationalists say: "Make Britain strong!"

VITAL NEED FOR NATIONAL FITNESS DRIVE

BRITAIN IS IN DANGER of becoming one of the least physically fit nations in the world — if she is not already so. The very low physical standard of so many of our people — including the young who supposedly should be in their prime — is evidence of this, the evidence being obtainable through a look at any crowded public place.

And yet precisely nothing is being done to remedy this shortcoming. On the contrary, our schools today are giving less and less time and resources to training their pupils by means of vigorous sports, as a recent survey conducted by the Secondary Heads Association makes clear.

The survey shows that there has been a big decline in school sport and physical education in this country. It reveals that 95 per-cent of secondary schools have suffered a rapid decline in weekend and after-school sports fixtures in the last two years.

SCHOOL SPORTS ESSENTIAL IN BUILDING A STRONG RACE
Their decline in modern Britain is a national scandal

As an instance of this, 75 per-cent of pupils have no opportunity to swim at school.

Meanwhile 40 per-cent of schools have inadequate facilities for gymnastics.

And so few schools employ groundsmen that nearly half of all playing fields are sub-standard by Department of Education and Science criteria.

Only 1 teacher in 10, apart from specialist PE teachers, helps out with school sports. In many schools such help is non-existent.

Children aged 12-14 have on average only 2 hours of physical exercise a week, and 65 per-cent of sixth-formers can opt out of PE and games if they wish to.

According to Mr. Peter Lawson, secretary of the Central Council for Physical Recreation, "Competitive sport in schools is going down the tube fast. The decline was exacerbated by the teachers' dispute, when games went by the board."

Mr. Lawson might have added that, in addition to this factor, many local education authorities in Britain now are postively discouraging competitive sports of any kind in schools because they establish 'inequality' between winners and losers, and are thus against one of the cardinal tenets of the left-wing religion which now dominates a large sector of British education.

DEPLORABLE TRENDS

Who is to blame for these deplorable trends? Tories will no doubt seek comfort in passing responsibility onto Labour-controlled local councils, which are the prime movers in the war against competitive sports.

But this would amount to an

RONALD RICKCORD
Talking Points

PERPETUATING A MYTH

Like the Hollywood spectacular Holocaust, the trial of the hapless John Demjanjuk in Jerusalem is simply another attempt to remind the world of the so-called 'Holocaust'. Although the farcical proceedings may impress some of the more gullible Goyim, they are unlikely to convince anyone who has taken an intelligent interest in the trial. By exclusively devoting an entire TV channel to the charade and by bussing school-children to and from the court each day, the Israeli authorities are unashamedly showing that they are more concerned with perpetuating a myth than in seeing that justice is done.

The ludicrous histrionics exhibited in the witness box by several 'Holocaust survivors' who, after 45 years, were able to identify Demjanjuk as 'Ivan the Terrible' and the 'Butcher of Treblinka' with immediate certainty are, to say the least, rather suspicious. In addition, the ghoulishness of their evidence against him — "He was there all the time, gouging out eyes and cutting off girl's breasts" — simply defies belief. So does the story that a German officer on the camp had trained a dog to "snap off" the genital organs of naked Jews.

An interesting sidelight to emerge from the trial is the revelation that the Soviet Government, which currently does not have diplomatic relations with Israel, has provided the documentary evidence — almost certainly fabricated — which is being used by the prosecution to 'prove' that Demjanjuk is 'Ivan'!

AND MORE 'WAR CRIMINALS'

Home Secretary Douglas Hurd's agreement to meet a deputation from the Simon Wiesenthal organisation, which hopes to persuade him to initiate criminal proceedings against 17 alleged 'war criminals' living in Britain, was quite outrageous. Would he so readily receive a delegation of his own countrymen? Would he, for example, be prepared to give a hearing to a deputation of British National Party members wishing to express their genuine concern about the continuing massive influx of foreigners into Britain? I rather think not.

As with the Demjanjuk case, the hand of the Soviets can be seen at work. Despite all the much publicised talk of the 'liberalisation' of Soviet policies under Mr. Gorbachev, it is clear that the Soviet authorities are still determined to get even with the Ukrainian, Lithuanian, Latvian, Estonian and other exiled nationalists who dared to fight alongside the Germans in a forlorn attempt to prevent the Soviet take-over of their countries.

QUEER VOTES

Few people will have much sympathy for the egregious Neil Kinnock in the predicament in which he finds himself following the recent by-elections. Having thought that there were votes to be had by supporting the queers and lesbians who now infest our country, he discovered to his dismay that he had alienated many of the ordinary working-class voters on whom the Labour Party traditionally relies. Now he is frantically trying to distance himself from the perverts. On this occasion Mr. Kinnock's opportunism has cost him dear. Serves him right!

DO AS I SAY...

While every decent person will regret the untimely death of David Penhaligon, it has to be said that as one of the supporters of the introduction of the seat belt law in 1983, he was, ironically, not wearing a seat belt when his car crashed, killing him. This tragedy exemplifies the attitude of so many of our legislators who impose laws upon us that they are not prepared to obey themselves.

helping the coloured world to expand and grow while we shrink.

Just 100 years ago the average number of births per woman in the countries now comprising the European Community (excluding Greece) was 3.2. Now it is 2.1 — bare replacement level.

In Britain the fall has been even greater. Around 1903 the average number of births per woman was 3.5. Now it is below replacement level at around 1.8.

The latter figure is of course for Britain as a whole. However, within Britain it is a fact that the birthrate among coloured immigrants and their descendants is nearly double that of the indigenous population. Therefore the white birthrate in this country will in fact be lower than the 1.8 figure, while the coloured one will be up around 3.4 to 3.5.

Meanwhile around the world some coloured nations are breeding so fast they are doubling themselves every few decades.

And as the coloured people's homelands become incapable of supporting them they flood into the white people's homelands, such as Britain, France, West Germany, the USA, Canada and Australia.

And, far from wanting to stem the flood, the governments of these countries seem hell bent on promoting it!

NEED FOR NEW OUTLOOK

The time has come for the White Man to undergo a fundamental change of outlook and attitude.

Instead of dedicating himself to the cause of his own destruction and the advancement of his rivals in this world, he must do the reverse: fight for his own survival, the procreation of his own kind, the defence of his own territory, the use of his resources for the sustenance and expansion of his own people.

He must, in other words, throw away his death-wish and recover the will to live.

There will be those who will call this 'racism'. What if it is? Most of the other ethnic groups in the world are 'racist'. Why should we not be 'racist'?

Racism does not mean 'hating' other races; it simply means putting one's own race first, wanting to preserve it and work for its own good. Is there anything wrong with that?

We are told there is — everywhere: by the politicians, by the mass media, from the pulpit, in the schoolroom.

But it is time we no longer heeded these voices of race suicide. It is time we stood up for ourselves. It is time we stopped thinking we owed the rest of the world a living. It is time we started to look after our own.

For if we don't, most certainly no-one else will!

Leicester BNP hits back

AT THE BEGINNING OF 1986, Leicester Branch of the British National Party produced and distributed its own local nationalist review, Just Truth. Contained in this first edition was an article about the proposed location of an Islamic University in the Beaumont Leys area of Leicester. Naturally, Just Truth opposed the scheme and promised that the local BNP would campaign vigorously against it.

So successful has this campaign been that a public meeting to discuss the proposal was attended by 300 angry residents, who made it very clear that they did not want the university in their district. Although the meeting was not organised by the BNP but by a local residents' organisation, the party's opponents have given it the credit of being the main driving force behind the generation of local opposition to the scheme. Frustrated by the success of the BNP campaign, the Labour Party in the area has sponsored 'Anti-Fascist Action', which group targeted the BNP and launched a number of physical attacks on the party's papers sellers.

Leicester Link, the Labour propaganda magazine published monthly by the Labour controlled city council and paid for by the ratepayers, and which claims to reach 107,000 homes in the area every month, advertised in its September 1986 edition a public meeting of the 'Inter-Racial Solidarity Campaign'. The IRSC was instrumental in mobilising the Marxist criminals who attempted to smash the BNP rally at Avenue Road School in April 1985.

Intent on having some 'meaningful dialogue' with these law-breakers and to to let them know the BNP were not scared of them, 12 nationalists went along to this meeting.

The BNP men arrived at the meeting a little early and were met by a council official who enquired as to who they were. On being told they were from the BNP and informed of the purpose of their attendance, he said: ''In that case the meeting is cancelled.''

A further surprise was that the only IRSC person to turn up was the speaker — and this had been well advertised as a public meeting!

Totally embarrassed and humiliated, the various Labour and Marxist gangsters shortly afterwards turned up in force to smash the BNP paper sellers. Posters produced by the Labour Party Young Socialists and leaflets by the IRSC attacking the BNP have been distributed all over Leicester. And so angry at failing to get support for the Islamic University scheme, the LPYS called a public meeting at the Home Farm Centre, which is in an area of Beaumont Leys with a high proportion of Blacks. Mistaking a group of Beaumont Leys Conservatives for the BNP, the reds jostled and intimidated them — thus inducing two of them to write a letter of protest to The Leicester Mercury the following week complaining that they had to run the gauntlet through ''two or three dozen Militant-brandishing Young Socialists drawn up phalanx-like outside the main entrance.''

Leicester Branch of the BNP has now recently completed a leafletting exercise in Beaumont Leys in support of the local people's opposition to the Islamic University. This has had a big impact. The message of the BNP to its opponents in Leicester is loud and clear: ''We will not be stopped!'' unacceptable passing of the buck. All this has happened under a Conservative Government. And that government has up to now done virtually nothing to stop it.

LAISSEZ-FAIRE ATTITUDE

This is not really surprising, because in the spirit of the laissez-faire philosophy which dominates this government's thinking physical fitness and health are very much a matter for the individual and no part of the concern of the state and nation.

In the meantime, other countries around the world, some of whom are no friends of ours and to whom our weakness is an advantage, are training their young people up to very high physical standards by giving top priority in schools and universities to sport and physical training, with the provision of the very best facilities and teachers necessary to that purpose.

When nationalism comes to power in Britain we will see to it that this appalling neglect is ended, and a massive national campaign is launched throughout the land to increase facilities for, and participation in, vigorous sports everywhere — but particularly among the young.

We will ensure the building of comprehensively equipped sports centres in every locality, urban and rural, and the establishment of a mandatory school and university curriculum which allocates many times the hours to sport that are now allocated in most of our centres of education.

The breeding of a fit population is a number-one national priority, for only by such fitness can our people work to the utmost of their capacity and help to build a strong, healthy, self-reliant and successful nation.

RED COWARDS AT WORK IN THE NIGHT

This is the home of Ian Sloan, British National Party Regional Organiser for the North West of England after a cowardly gang of left-wing opponents of the BNP in Liverpool, where he lives, had visited it in the night and daubed slogans on the walls and woodwork. Mr. Sloan and his wife have also received threatening telephone calls from the reds, who are alarmed at the impact the BNP is making in the area. Ian Sloan has said that the attack has won him tremendous sympathy from his neighbours, including many who previously knew nothing about the BNP. He is undeterred by the attack and intends to carry on the struggle just as before
